

The European Day of Languages

Evropský den jazyků

Včera jsem navštívili Polský institut v rámci Mezinárodního dne cizích jazyků.

Yesterday we went on excursion to the Polish Institute. We visited it during the International Day of Languages.

First of all we visited a library with Polish books, there were ebooks for children, adults, beginner and intermediate students of Polish language. We got to know that there are possibilities to participate in lessons of Polish language. They are also offering theatre plays, evenings of chatting and so on.

The main part of our visit was a Polish document called „Political Dress“.

The movie showed us Polish fashion from 60s to 80s and how the politics influenced the look of clothing. There were also shown extreme ways of appearance for example groups such as Hippies, Punk fans. The most interesting character of the film was Barbara Hoff who is fashion designer and her biggest success was developing Hoffland. Hoffland was first the shop during the late communism which offered cheap and modern clothes for everyone.

The first Hoffland was opened in Warsaw and became very popular.

After that we had a quiz about Polish culture. Another activity was a reading of Polish poem. Our task was listening and understanding. At the end of our visit we had a challenge: finding out differences between Polish words.

We had a great time at the Polish Institute. It brought us many experiences.
